RESULTS, HOW TO READ THIS REPORT:

Note: Simpatic.US uses the names you used on the questionnaire:

Romeo

Juliet

If a response is listed just once, without someone's name in front of it – for example, simply as “seeing others” – each person responded that they were interested in seeing others. It's a shared interest.

And if one person selected “Any or all of the above” and the other picked a specific thing in that section, only that specific thing is listed, because that's what you both share. If you both selected “Any or all of the above” the form may say “Any or all of the above” since you both are interested in all the options.

Based on your responses, here are the interests, desires you share:
